TAX REVOLT

Suggestions that we should embark on a tax revolt are stupid and impractical.

We all know that SARS will bite you if you do not pay your taxes.

Much smarter move is to vote for the party that will reduce all taxes. The Free Democrats will reduce VAT to 14 %, increase the primary rebate to R250 000,00 (those who earn a gross income of R250 000,00 and less per year will pay no income tax), reduce dividend tax to 15 % and increase the tax free amount earned as interest to R100 000,00 per year.

These measures will serve to support those who save and exercise financial restraint, boost the economy and create quality jobs.

Up till now those who have spent recklessly or incurred unnecessary debt have been supported by the ANC government. At the same time the ANC government has taken particular pleasure in punishing hard workers and savers while rewarding idle loafers, party hacks, cronies, comrades and cadres.

The Free Democrats propose a full tax deduction of all medical expenses, all security expenses and all contributions made towards education and training of your dependent children.

The ANC government has failed us on many fronts, but especially in healthcare, education and in security. It is only fair that individual citizens should be allowed a full tax deduction for expenses incurred due to the failings of the ANC government.

Parliament decides the tax laws. At the 2019 South African election all registered voters will decide the makeup of the next parliament.

A vote for the Free Democrats will be a vote for less taxes across the board.

Register your disgust with ANC style corruption and waste by voting for the Free Democrats.

Forget the DA, they do not know what they want.
